

Echo and Narcissus Story

TAGS:

| General information         |                                                                        |
|-----------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Title of the work    | Echo and Narcissus Story                                               |
| Publisher            | BusyTeacher                                                            |
| Original language    | English                                                                |
| Target and Age Group | Pre-intermediate, 5-8th grade, 10-14 years old                         |
| Link (to resource)   | Echo and Narcissus StoryAccessed on 3 August, 2020 |

Additional information

|                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|--------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Contents & Purpose | This worksheet contains the adapted myth of Narcissus and Echo (Story retold by Walker Brents). It acts as a source material for discussion in class. The teachers are encouraged to create reading comprehension questions following the text. |
|--------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

---

|                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Further comments | The worksheet offers the adapted myth of Narcissus and Echo, retold by Walker Brents. The purpose is to develop reading comprehension skills and discussion in class. Furthermore, the story also introduces high level words as vocabulary building exercise. |
|------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

---

